

ECOCAMP PATAGONIA TRAVELERS' TALES - A PLACE FOR CHANGE

"Always make sure that you say 'what am I going to learn about myself?'" (Ross Jones)

By nature, the act of traveling removes us from the known and introduces us to new sensations, cultures, sounds, tastes, and challenges. Such constant confrontation with the "new" shakes us up and causes us to question where we are on our life's journey. Nature, with its uncanny way of providing the quiet time needed to learn about ourselves and put our lives into perspective, is also a catalyst for change.

"It's a place that's so surreal and out of this world." (Tara Sutton)

At EcoCamp, our guests are moved by their journey, sometimes to their own surprise. The vision of the three Towers, a glacier, guanaco, avalanche, or impossibly blue lake catch them unawares and invite them to push deeper into the experience of living in the here and now. For Tara Sutton and Ross Jones, the chance to interact with their surroundings, coupled with their connections with others at EcoCamp, surpassed their expectations and allowed them to feel changed by their time in Patagonia.

"It's meeting the people, it's always meeting the people that's the most important." (Ross Jones)

Patagonia's heart-singing surroundings have a way of impacting upon our guests. However, alongside nature we cannot underestimate the power of time spent with people in pursuit of the same goals and challenges. For Tara and Ross, their connection with others - their guides and fellow travelers - stayed with them just as much as the almost cathartic experience of walking through Torres del Paine.

TRAVELER TIPS

Travelers after the classic Torres del Paine experience know they can't beat the W Trek (<https://www.cascada.travel/Activity/W-Trek>). This famous route takes you past the Park's premier attractions (including Glacier Grey, the French Valley, and the Towers themselves), with nights spent between mountain refuges and our comfy Domes. Better yet, it's possible to do in five (<https://www.cascada.travel/Tour/Patagonia-Torres-del-Paine-5-Day-Short-W-Trek>) or seven (<https://www.cascada.travel/Tour/Patagonia-Torres-del-Paine-7-Day-W-Trek>) days - meaning that you can go at a pace that suits you.
